Proofpoint protects emails, data, brand and people against the latest cyber threats

The most important transactions in the world run today via email – unfortunately not with the required security level.

The email is (still) a huge security risk for businesses.

Proofpoint provides the most effective security and compliance solutions to respond to cyber attacks. In every channel: including email, the web, the cloud and social media.

With an intelligently developed security portfolio, Proofpoint is one of the leading cyber security companies in the world.

With Proofpoint Targeted Attack Protection you detect, analyse and block today's most sophisticated advanced and targeted email threats with unmatched accuracy and insight. Implementing DMARC is the best way to protect your email traffic against phishing and other fraudulent activity.
